JEFFERSON CITY – Missouri Sen. Joe Keaveny (D-St. Louis) proudly announces the addition of two citizens from the 4th Senatorial District to the following commission and committee:

Dr. Sharon Lightfoot, of St. Louis, as a member of State Committee of Psychologists. The State Committee of Psychologists licenses and enforces the standards for psychologists practicing in the state of Missouri.

Mr. Curtis Skouby, of St. Louis, as a member of the Safe Drinking Water Commission. The Safe Drinking Water Commission assists the Public Drinking Water Program and works to ensure that all public water systems provide safe and adequate drinking water to the public by promoting and protecting public water systems. As the Director of Public Utilities for the St. Louis Water Division, Mr. Skouby will represent the public water supply serving more than 100,000 customers.

“These are two of the district’s finest minds in their respective fields,” said Sen. Keaveny. “I am sure they will represent Missouri and St. Louis well.”
